

DMCA Counter-Notice

If you believe you have received a notice of copyright infringement under the Digital Millennium Copyright Act in error, you may provide counter-notice by completing the form below and faxing, mailing, or scanning and sending the signed form to IONOS. This information will be forwarded to the person who alleged copyright infringement and, if that person wishes to prevent the return of the content to your website, the person will be forced to file a lawsuit against you. If you are not prepared to defend such a lawsuit, or if you are not certain that you have all of the rights to use the content in question, you should refrain from filing this counter-notice. Consider consulting with your attorney before returning this counter-notice to IONOS. Upon receipt of a proper counter-notice IONOS may, if the complainant has not provided notice of a lawsuit, allow access to your website. Complete all fields - failure to provide all requested information may delay the reinstatement of your website.
